Headline:
Bright and sunny spells. Warm after a chilly start.

Today:
A dry and bright day with some good spells of sunshine, although cloud could increase at times, especially around the north coast. Feeling warm in any afternoon sunshine with light winds. Maximum temperature 16 deg C (61 deg F).

Tonight:
Dry with well broken cloud across much of the area, clear skies leading to a frost in places. However, the cloud is expected to be more extensive through northern Aberdeenshire. Minimum temperature -2 deg C (28 deg F).

Friday:
A bright day with sunny spells. It will feel warm in any afternoon sunshine, although some coasts cooler with sea breezes developing. Maximum temperature 16 deg C (61 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Mainly dry and bright with warm spells of sunshine and overnight frosts becoming isolated. Risk of a few afternoon showers, especially over the hills. However, some rain on Monday.
